

PHASERAY Technology

We have developed an illumination system that reveals invisible foreign matter and scratches by combining a proprietary phase polarization filter together with medical lighting technology. Our innovative system provides true raw images by removing unwanted light halation and glare.

In visual and automated inspection systems as well as the medical field, it is important that images imported into AI systems are true images. Our technology can provide such images that lead to more accurate analysis.

